

Learning Style and Personality Essay

My two learning styles are Visual and Auditory. These two are my learning styles because when I learn something new I have to hear it and see it. For me the best way to learn is to see a teacher/someone do it first and follow along. I prefer not to work in a group because I get distracted very easily and don't do my work. I usually end up talking about something other than the assignment. I honestly like group projects but because of how I know I am I prefer not to do them, unless I have to.

"Hard-working, cautious about change, and dependable," are just a few words that I would describe myself and how I get along with others at work and school. When I'm focused on something I put my ALL into it. No one can stop me until I have reached my goal, even if it is a small one, like finish filing before lunch or turn something in before it's due. One thing I do not like is when something changes. Even if it is for good. Mainly because I have already programmed and sent my mind to do something and now I have to change it, it's hard for me to remember changes, especially if they are small changes.

I can hang around my friends a lot but they know that when I say I can't hangout, that I honestly can't hangout. I take what I have to do before my friends very seriously. For example, for school, I do my homework before I do anything else. If I don't have time to go then I don't go out. I've never had a problem with my friends disrespecting my decisions they know how strict my parents are, and how strict I am on myself. I really appreciate when they plan things ahead of time so I know if I will have homework that day, I can't try to plan out how long it will take me to do it, and I'll know if I'll be able to go out that day.

When it comes to my family I like when we plan things ahead of time. That way I know exactly what and when we are going to do thing. Also so I don't plan other things. My parents always know they can depend on me whenever they need anything. When it comes to my family I will always put them first. No one can get in the way of me and my family's relationship because at the end of the day they will be the ones to ALWAYS be by my side through thick and thin. I honestly love that my parents know that I'm responsible and they can depend on me.

I am a very helpful person. When I see that someone is not understanding something I try to help the person out until they understand, or if someone has dropped their things on the floor I will help them pick their things up so they won't be as late to class. My general characteristics are that I'm very respectful and follow the rules. Not only because that is the way my parents raised me but because I know what kind of person I would look like if I didn't, know one would want to hire me, or be associated with me.
